

Building Your Work Foundation in School

Employers seek people who possess a variety of positive personality traits and person skills. These traits and skills are the building blocks of your work foundation and are presented below.

