

Building Your Work Foundation in School

Employers seek people who possess a variety of positive personality traits and personal skills.

These traits and skills are the building blocks of your foundation and are presented below

